Friday 20th November

Dear Parents

I don't have too much to update you with this week but I just wanted to make reference to our Parent Consultations next week that will take place via the SchoolCloud system.

The current pandemic has given rise to many challenges and new ways of working as it has in many walks of life of course.

Our latest challenge is delivering our parent teacher consultations remotely. We have tested our system with SchoolCloud to ensure compatibility, but what we cannot try until Tuesday is how well the system works with 21 teachers working from it! We strongly recommend that you test the phone/device you are planning to use before the appointment to ensure volume and video settings are working.

If there are issues then we will find a new delivery model – potentially having fewer teachers online over more dates, so please be reassured that the consultations will still take place at another time should there be any difficulties.

Next term we are having a new high-speed fibre connection for our computer network to support the expansion in computers and devices that we are planning over the next few years.

Many thanks to Mr Ryan our IT Technician for his hard work and dedication to further improve our school technology capability going forward.

Have a good weekend everyone.

Mr Farrugia
